Go Vegan

THE STYLE-CONSCIOUS fashionista around town now has a reason to flaunt her environmental-conscious looks, thanks to Vën Shoe Salon. The ultra-hip boutique in Davenport Village offers Charmoné, a new, exclusive line of vegan shoes—yes, we said vegan. You won't find any leather in these babies. By utilizing high-quality Italian microfibers (which are structured exactly like leather), Charmoné bypasses the process of tanning, factory farming and processing traditional leather—which is much gentler on the environment. And instead of using harmful polyvinyl chloride (or PVCs), the materials are made from a light polyurethane coating, which is friendly to all things green. What's more: Charmoné donates 5 percent of all profits to charities that support what it does: people, animals and the planet. 3801 N. Capital of Texas Hwy., Ste. G-160, 306-8200, www.venshoesalon.com.
